【特定個人情報の収集・保管制限（廃棄）】

○法律で限定的に明記された場合を除き、特定個人情報を収集又は保管することはできないため、社会保障及び税に関する書類の作成事務を処理する必要がなくなった場合で、所管法令において定められている保存期間を経過した場合には、マイナンバーをできるだけ速やかに廃棄又は削除しなければなりません。

■Restrictions for the retention (disposal) of My Numbers

Specific personal information that includes My Numbers may not be retained as stipulated by law. Such information can only be retained as required for the execution of administrative processes.

Documents with My Numbers can be retained for the specific period permitted by law.

One example is the retaining of My Numbers of employees in a continuous relationship under an employment agreement for the preparation of certificates of income and tax withholding, health insurance and welfare pension documents expected to be prepared in following years, which makes it possible to retain such personal information.

On the other hand, because the collection and retention of specific personal information is prohibited by law, with exceptions as indicated for a limited extent, when the preparation of documents related to social security and taxation are no longer required and the storage period stipulated by the jurisdiction laws have lapsed, My Numbers must be disposed or deleted as soon as possible.

It is possible to continue holding the document if My Numbers are deleted or masked to an un-restorable level.

In this way, there are restrictions on the retention (disposal) of My Numbers. It is desirable to manage paper documents by year on the assumption that they will eventually be disposed of or deleted, or structure a system on the computer to delete My Numbers that are no longer required.

■ Personal information is retained under the decentralized management

In the My Number System, personal information is de-centrally retained in governmental agents such as regional municipalities and health insurance societies, and “de-centralized management” method, in which the information is exchanged as needed, is adopted utilizing the information-sharing through network system.

マイナンバー制度における、符号を用いた情報連携

■With information sharing, My Number itself is not used

With information sharing, we do not use My Number directly but use a code specifically written to every information possession organization, so that the system prevents leaking out the information one after another and works in safer environment.

Also, through the function “exchange history” of the website “Mynaportal” which is accessible by logging-in using My Number Card, the user will be able to check when and between which agencies one’s information was exchanged.
